OPPOSITION TO FREIGHT RATES INCREASE FOUND

Several Communications Asking Favorable Action On Petition Received

MANY PROTESTS SAY RATES NOW TOO HIGH

Farm Board Member Says Hike Now Would Prove 'Unpopular'

WASHINGTON, June 18, (AP)—Opposition to the proposed fifteen per cent increase in freight rates developed Thursday in letters to President Hoover and the interstate commerce commission.

Several communications urging quick, favorable action on the petition of the roads that were received.

Representative Evans, Democrat, Montana, Senator Shipstead, farmer labor, Minnesota, Carl Williams, cotton member of the Federal farm board, the North Dakota Railroad commission and the Wyoming Stock Dealers association protested. From merchants, manufacturers, securities dealers and private citizens came further opposition.

Assert Rate Too High

Many of the protests asserted that rates, especially on farm products, were already too high. Some predicted disaster both to business generally and the railroads if the commission grants the increase.

Williams, speaking as an individual, said any increase in freight rates on farm products would be most "unpopular." The farmer believes rates too high now, he continued, adding that there was justification for this attitude.

Representative Evans expressed the opinion an increase would be destructive to shippers, suicide for the railroads, and plunge the whole country into greater distress.

Attack On Income

"A general increase in railroad rates at any time is an attack on the income of commerce and agriculture," wrote Senator Shipstead. He suggested that the commission tell the railroads to "be patient" and "in the meantime take their losses with the rest of us."

Suggestions for betterment of the railroad situation took several forms. Some protestants wanted railroad wages reduced.

Personalities Behind The News

BY MILBURN AKERS
(Copyright, 1931,
By The Associated Press.)

CHICAGO, June 17, (AP)—One of the richest women in the United States—Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick—daughter of John D., occpies not only the position in Gold Coast society to which her birth, marriage and wealth entitle her, but is, in addition a student of psychology, a large scale real estate operator and a collector.

She regards the study of psychology, to which she has devoted years both in America and abroad, as her profession; her operations in real estate she considers as her business, and her activities as a collector as her hobby.

Enthusiastic Collector.

And it is her activities as a collector over which she becomes enthusiastic.

"A collector," she says, "is always filled with the joyful expectancy that just around the corner awaits that for which he has spent years searching."

Books, rugs and tapestries are the object of her search. The entire upper floor of her residence is devoted to her library, a large part of which is works on psychology and most of the remainder rare books and manuscripts.

Prizes First Editions.

Prized among her books is a complete set of first editions of the works of Ruskin. This she prizes not alone because it is a complete set but because it was rebound, preserving the original binding by one of England's greatest binders. The task took 18 years. Because it included so many exquisite examples of the binder's art, consummated at the end of his active career, Mrs. McCormick regards the collection as one of her most prized possessions.

As a collector of Persian rugs Mrs. McCormick has been unusually successful. Only recently she added "the emperor rug" to her collection, a royal Persian which was once the property of Peter the Great and of Leopold I of Austria. So far as is known there are but 12 royal Persian rugs in existence and Mrs. McCormick is the owner of two of them.

Sentenced In Slaying

ORANGE, June 18, (AP)—Found guilty of murder in connection with the slaying of Will C. White, Orange policeman, here last year, N. E. Perkins, ex-peace officer and world war veteran, was given a life sentence by a jury in district court here late Thursday. The jurors deliberated the case three hours before reaching an agreement.

As Hoover Dedicated Harding Memorial

Before a throng of 100,000, President Herbert Hoover, on his tour of the middle west, lays a wreath on the tomb of the late President Warren Gamaliel Harding at Marion, O., home of the former chief executive and site of the $800,000 shrine erected to his memory. In his speech of dedication, President Hoover lauded the achievements of President Harding and flayed the men who betrayed him.

Communists In China Increase Activities

SHANGHAI, June 18, (AP)—Communists increased their warring activities in Kiangsi province Thursday, dispatches said, and menacing Nansing, its capital, despite thousands of nationalists government troops rushed to the aid of wavering defenders.

The reds, with a strong grip on southern Kiangsi, moved northward, their advance approaching the gates of the city.

Fearing Nanchang would fall, the government hurried 20,000 more troops into Kiangsi with field guns and modern wartime equipment.

Drive Against Reds.

Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek, head of the nationalist government, however, further delayed his departure from Nanking to take command of his announced big drive against reds and bandits of Kiangsi and Hunan provinces.

His assumption of command, government officials asserted, would be the start of strenuous campaigning to eradicate outlawry which Chiang said was the greatest menace confronting the government and nation.

As the troops moved southward, however, outlawry appeared in a new quarter. Cheng Yangkwan, important city 150 miles west of Nanking, was reported surrounded by reds. No troops were available for its defense and its fall was expected.

MELLON LISTENS TO LEADERS OF BRITISH FINANCE

Tendency to Connect Visit With Reparations, War Debts Grows

LONDON, June 18, (AP)—Andrew W. Mellon, secretary of the United States treasury, lent an ear to leaders of British political and financial life Thursday, spending an hour with Prime Minister MacDonald, Foreign Secretary Henderson, and Montagu Norman, governor of the Bank of England, at the prime minister's private quarters in the house of commons. Previously he spent considerably more than an hour with Mr. Norman at his hotel.

Although it was officially insisted that Mr. Mellon's visit was nothing more than a pleasure trip, during which he hoped to visit his son at Cambridge, there was an increasing tendency to connect his presence with the momentous question of reparations and war debts.

McDonald to Visit Berlin.

Coincidentally with the appearance of the secretary of the treasury in the house of commons for the second time in two days it was announced that Mr. MacDonald and Mr. Henderson would go to Berlin July 17 to accept an invitation received from Chancellor Bruening and Julius Curtius, German foreign minister, when the two German statesmen were in London.

Just as at the time of the Curtius-Bruening visit, the greatest secrecy is being observed in all quarters as to the character of the conversations between the prime minister and his American visitor. Mr. Mellon Thursday even went so far as to say that nothing he was doing in London had the slighest official importance.

Opportunity for Study.

It is widely remarked in Great Britain that the visits of Mr. Mellon, Chancellor Bruening and Dr. Curtius, the forthcoming visit of Secretary Stimson and the visit of Mr. MacDonald and Mr. Henderson to Berlin, afford a most excellent opportunity to go over questions of vital interest in the current European and world economic situation.

Mr. Mellon is spending the week end at Cambridge with his son and his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. David K. E. Bruce. He says his plans are uncertain and is not sure when he will visit the continent but he does not expect to be in England when Mr. Stimson arrives.

DO-X at Bahia, Brazil

BAHIA, Brazil, June 18, (AP)—The giant German seaplane Do-X landed here Thursday at 12:55 p. m. (10:25 A. M. E. S. T.) after a flight from Natal along the coast of Brazil. The trip was the first stage of a flight to Rio de Janeiro, where the giant ship, which crossed the Atlantic with 13 passengers on June 6, will be exhibited at the Brazilian capital.

ROSEBUD, Tex., June 18, (AP)—One inch of rain, running the precipitation for the week to two inches, fell here Thursday. It was said to be very helpful to growing crops.

Federal Deficit Passes Billion

WASHINGTON, June 18, (AP)—Federal finances still floundered in red ink Thursday to the extent of more than a billion dollars although the total had dropped sharply from Wednesday's high figure.

Income tax collections joined foreign debt payments to bring the deficit $82,000,000 nearer President Hoover's estimate of $950,000,000, a figure treasury officials now believe will prove excessive when the books close June 30.

Reports on the second quarter installments on 1930 income taxes closely approximately previous treasury estimates which forecast June collections of $290,000,000. Payments on June 16 of 29,368,152 brought the total for the month to $75,897,122 as compared with $186,173,071 in the corresponding 1930 period.

EXTRA SESSION IS NEARER, SAYS TEXAS GOVERNOR

Sterling Says East Texans Believe New Plan Will Fail

AUSTIN, June 18, (AP)—Governor Ross S. Sterling's statement Thursday that a special session of the legislature to pass oil legislation seemed nearer instead of farther away as a result of recent developments in East Texas came as a surprise to many persons in the capitol.

The governor explained by stating that most East Texans believed the new plan of stabilization would fail and that he had been advised they would help pass legislation strengthening the proration powers of the railroad commission in the event that should happen.

Cooperation Expected

Institution of the Cranfill plan was due to be completed at 10 o'clock Saturday morning. Cooperation of virtually all operators in the field was expected to be required to make the plan successful.

The railroad commission was awaiting an opinion from the attorney general's department before deciding whether to issue an emergency order in line with the plan. Fred Upchurch, assistant attorney general in charge of oil litigation was expected back in Austin Friday. The commission doubted its authority to issue an order without a hearing after ten day's notice.

Federal Agents In Paris Under Suspension Now

BEAUMONT, June 18, (AP).—Bea Cowan, deputy district prohibition administrator, said Thursday that on Monday he had suspended Agents Elmer Lanning and Jack Harrington of Paris.

Cowan said each was charged with conduct unbecoming an officer.

The suspension was for an indefinite time, and final disposition of their cases depended on an investigation now being conducted, Cowan said.

Band Pavilion For Bywaters Park Is Announced By Board

Tentative Cost Of Structure Set At $5,000

Bywaters Park on South Main street is to have a band pavilion, with an open air stage or platform, according to decision of members of the city park board, meeting Thursday afternoon with Mayor J. M. Crook, and the sum of $5,000 was set as the tentative cost of the structure, the amount being subject to change.

The park board has had the matter under consideration for some time, particularly as the present wooden band platform is badly in need of repairs, and inadequate for the many uses to which it might be put.

To Submit Designs

Architects' designs for such a permanent structure as the board desires are to be submitted, the amount named to approximate the cost of construction.

The pavilion will be provided for out of the money turned over to the city in connection with the gift of the park site by the executors of the late J. K. Bywaters, and is to serve the purpose of providing an open air stage where band concerts, public addresses and all fresco programs of all sorts may be presented.

Of Permanent Construction

The structure will be of permanent construction, and in outlining its purpose the board expressed its intention of making it a worthy completement to the present arrangement of the park, which was originally planted with shrubs and trees, with the idea in view of the ultimate erection of such a structure as the one now planned.

The type of architecture selected from designs submitted will determine the plan, size and materials of the pavilion, and other improvement features under consideration by the board will be undertaken in conformity with the design of the structure.

Members of the park board present at the meeting Thursday were J. J. Culbertson, Richard Blyth, H. G. Armstrong, and Mrs. S. B. M. Long, the only absentee being Henry P. Mayer, who was out of the city.

INDORSE CUT IN OIL PRODUCTION OF ETEX FIELD

State Railroad Commission Asked to Adopt Plan As Order

LONGVIEW, June 18, (AP)—Reduction of oil proration in the East Texas field under the Cranfill plan of allowing 300 barrels daily per 20-acre unit was endorsed Thursday afternoon at an executive session of the East Texas proration advisory committee, meeting with the East Texas arbitration committee of which Captain J. F. Lucey of Dallas is chairman.

The ratification was made in the form of a recommendation to be forwarded at once to the state railroad commission requesting adoption of the plan as a commission order, to be put into effect "as soon as possible."

Pipelines Pledge Cooperation

Pipeline men attending a caucus here Thursday pledged their cooperation, terming the plan the only solution at hand in the controversy over proration in the field which has raged for several months. Those attending the meeting were mostly smaller pipeline purchasers owning loading racks served by gathering lines.

Prior to the conference of the arbitration committee with the proration advisory committee, Captain Lucey's group met with three area committees of five members each representing the Longview, Henderson and Kilgore areas.

HANGING VICTIM SAYS DISSENSION IN CHURCH CAUSE

Pastor Of Dallas Church Is Hanged to Chandelier Above Pulpit

DALLAS, June 18, (AP).—B. P. Brown, part-time preacher and hotel baggage man, who was stripped of his clothes by four masked men Thursday and hanged to a chandelier above the pulpit in the North Dallas Baptist church, Thursday night blamed dissension among members of the congregation for the attack.

The hanging, he said the men told him, was "an example" to his pastor, the Rev. H. P. Marler. A former member of the church who recently resigned as a deacon was arrested Thursday afternoon for questioning.

Had Trouble at Church.

"We've had trouble at the church, allright," he told newspapermen. "Some of the members want Brother Marler to resign. They don't like me, either, but they are going to have a hard time running me off," Brown said.

He said he didn't know who the men were, "but they were at church last Sunday morning and heard me pray to have strength to forgive my enemies. One of them told me he heard me pray in public Sunday."

Receive Threat Letters.

Brown said he and Rev. Mr. Marler had received numerous threat letters during the last three months. Brown receiving the last one Tuesday. Federal postal au-

Hoover Returns To Capital Cheered By Four-Day Trip

WASHINGTON, June 18, (AP).—President Hoover came back to the White House Thursday night cheerful and optimistic over the conditions he observed on his four days tour of the central states.

His views were expressed informally to members of the party as the special train traveled through fields of ripening harvests in crossing West Virginia and Virginia Thursday.

The prospects for bumper crops visible throughout the trip apparently contributed to the hopes entertained by the president. Thursday's route led across a stretch of last year's ruinous drouth belt.

To Stand on Policies.

The president came back to Washington determined to stand on the policies he outlined in his speeches in the middle west and he made it clear he planned no other extended trips away from the capital.

Republican leaders who joined the presidential special at various points were eager to discuss politics and were frank in their expressions of hope of a favorable reaction to Mr. Hoover's utterances in this territory where democrats scored gains in the last congressional election. Senator Glenn, of Illinois, returned here with him.

The president at Indianapolis before the Indiana Republican Editorial association named the business depression as the "dominant" problem of the day and upon that issue he is apparently determined to face next year's campaign.

The trip into Ohio, Indiana and Illinois was the farthest west he has gone since entering the White House and he took advantage of opportunities to appear before the people from the rear platform of his train at all stops.

Hot weather prevailed through most of the busy program and every minute in the stops at the state capitals was occupied but the president seemed none the worse for the experience.

Nichols Flight Is Delayed As Plane Damaged in Mishap

NEW YORK, June 18, (AP).—A society girl's golden dream of being the first woman to fly alone across the Atlantic received a temporary setback late Thursday when Miss Ruth Nichols, 26, damaged her plane at Floyd Bennett field.

She had hoped to get off Thursday for Portland, Me., enroute to Harbor Grace, N. F., where she plans to start her solo voyage across the North Atlantic to Paris.

Difficulty in Take-Off.

Late Thursday afternoon she took off from Jersey City, heavily laden, for Floyd Bennett airport on Barren island off Brooklyn. At the latter field she was to take aboard still more fuel and hop for the north.

She had difficulty, however, getting away at Jersey City, and when she landed at Floyd Bennett field, New York city's new airport, she came down hard.

The plane, a streamlined, high-wing cabin affair, struck the ground on its right wheel. A tail skid cracked off, a bulkhead in the fuselage was damaged and the landing gear strained.

Mechanics said it would probably take a couple of days to repair the damage and the probability was Miss Nichols would not take off until Monday.

Lions Club Will Install Officers At Open Meet

Installation of the new officers of the Lions club will be the feature of next Thursday's program at an open meeting to be held on Thursday evening. The place for the meeting was not decided at Thursday's luncheon but will be announced later.

Walter Hicks was chairman of the committee in charge of Thursday's program and introduced as the principal speaker, F. H. B. Warren, petroleum geologist, who spoke of the geological formations of the soil in this territory. Mr. Warren is interested in the development of oil in this section and said that he hoped to see several thorough tests made in the near future as he believed that wells drilled in the past had not gone deep enough to determine definitely the possibility for oil production.

Visitors included Jim Smith of Dallas, Lee Yancey, Rev. W. H. Wiggs, Harry Baker, J. B. Moore and Mrs. J. L. George.

C. A. Martin, recently elected to membership, was introduced.

ST. CLAIRSVILE, O., June 18 (AP)—The mine strike in this district flared into open warfare on Thursday, with clashes between mine guards, strikers and strike sympathizers causing injury to eight members of the national miners union.

FAIR DIRECTORS DISCUSS AWARDS

Make Changes In Number Of Exhibits Required For Premiums

Premiums to be given at the exhibits of Lamar District Fair to be held September 14 to 19 were decided upon at a meeting of the fair association in the chamber of commerce office Thursday afternoon. A few changes were made in the money premiums.

In most of the exhibits this year five and in some cases three exhibitors will be required for a first prize premium to be given. A second prize premium will be awarded when the number of exhibitors is small. Thursday afternoon with Miss Lida Cooper, the association members discussed the home demonstration premiums. Some of the club prizes were lowered but most of them were kept at their 1930 basis because the association believed these exhibits were worth the premiums.

Check Premiums.

Each premium given in 1930 was checked. The members studied the 1930 catalogue and discussed each item.

Present at the session were Lee Caviness and Brack Thompson of Chicota, Albis Ball of Minter, Robert Murphy, Harry Baker, Miss Lida Cooper and Miss Betty White of Paris, and K. Hunter Bywaters of Roxton.

The fair this year will be free to all. No charge at the gates will mean, the association members believe, a bigger and better fair with more exhibits of Lamar county products.

Band Concert At Wade Park Tonight

Editor Returns From Press Convention To Find The Only Bridge Prize He Ever Won Has Been Stolen—But Read On—

When a dog bites a man, that's not news; but when a man bites a dog, it's a page one story. So when a newspaper man goes to a press convention it is the thing for him to do, but when he gets robbed of $45 in a hotel and then comes home to find his suit and bridge prize missing it's news and also a pathetic happening.

Lon Boynton of the Lamar County Echo went to San Angelo last week to attend a Texas Press association convention. Mrs. Boynton and their child accompanied the editor of the weekly to San Angelo. All went well until they started home.

The Boyntons decided to make the long drive easier by spending the night in Mineral Wells. The editor, weary from convention meetings, retired to his room and slept the sound sleep of the weary. Some time during the night his room was entered and $45 was taken from his purse.

Then he came on home rather disgusted with conventions and the world in general. He drove to his house, which he saw someone had tried to enter. He went in, and began a search for those things missing. His winter suit, the one he liked so well, and a pair of trousers were gone. And there from its resting place in the bureau drawer had been taken a pair of sox won as first prize at a bridge party. Officers were advised of the robbery and are investigating the case.

But the editor?—well, he is a much disillusioned man. "It does look like they could have missed those sox. You know I wouldn't wear 'em because that was the only bridge prize I'd ever won," he said.

At the THEATERS

At the Plaza

Thrills of the wildest jungles, beasts in their struggles for life, savage tribesmen in the strange, fanatical and deadly rites of the juju; crocodiles, rhino—every peril an explorer could face—these are filmed, with actual sound, in "Trader Horn," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's gigantic pageant of savage Africa now playing at the Plaza theatre.

But it differs from anything of the kind ever seen, for its thrills and its wonders surround a dramatic story—the tale of the adventurous trader, his apprentice and the beautiful "White Goddess" of the savage Isorgi. The famous book lives in actuality, as in the original locales of its dramatic narrative, it is enacted in talking pictures.

Thursday afternoon Manager A. L. Norman of the Publix theatres and the Plaza theatre in Paris entertained the boys with a theatre party to the picture now showing at the Plaza, "Trader Horn." The boys were delighted with the entertainment, Walton Skinner, one of the scout officers said.

There are ten of the boys who are about ready to pass their life saving tests under the direction and instruction of Bob Berry. The leath-

At the Lamar

Lawrence Tibbett, opera star screen star "goes modern" and presents to his fans his first role played strictly in the garb of today in "The Southerner" Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's drama of love, divorce and the inhibitions of society which will open a two day engagement at the Lamar theatre Sunday afternoon and a special night show starting at 9:30 o'clock.

Tibbett, heretofore associated with the vivid trappings of "The Rogue Song" and "New Moon," opens the film in tramp garb reminiscent of the late Nat M. Wills. Later he assumes the garb of a gentleman and finds himself catapulted into one of the most daring situations a playwright ever conceived.

Harry Pollard Directed

Harry Pollard, producer of "Show Boat," directed the new picture from an original story by Bess Meredyth and Wells Root. Tibbett is seen as the prodigal son of a wealthy Southern family who returns home to figure in a love triangle that concerns his brother and the latter's wife. A tremendously dramatic situation is built up.

Tibbett sings several Southern songs, including "De Glory Road," one of his greatest concert hits; "Looks Like Pappy," "Life is a "Chidlins," "A Child Is Born," Dream," and "Without a Song."

Esther Ralston of "Fashions for Women" and "Peter Pan" fame, appears as the heroine and a notable cast includes Roland Young, Cliff Edwards, Purnell B. Pratt, Hedd aHopper, Emma Dunn, Stepin Fetchit, Louis John Bartels and Theodore Von Eltz.

Among the spectacular details are a fox hunt and a negro camp barbecue, the latter filmed with special photographic effects by Hal Rosson.

The inimitable comedy team of El Brendel and Marjorie White, which has virtually run away with every picture in which they have been paired, are prominently featured in the second big DeSylva, Brown and Henderson Fox Movietone musical comedy, "Just Imagine," acclaimed everywhere as a worthy successor to their "Sunny Side Up."

They were first seen and heard together in DeSylva, Brown and Henderson's initial screen offering "Sunny Side Up," which was undoubtedly one of the most popular pictures produced in 1929. They romped and played through that picture, evoking multitudes of laughs.

Both have unusually strong parts in "Just Imagine," and those who have seen the picture forecast early stardom for each of these hilarous mirth makers.

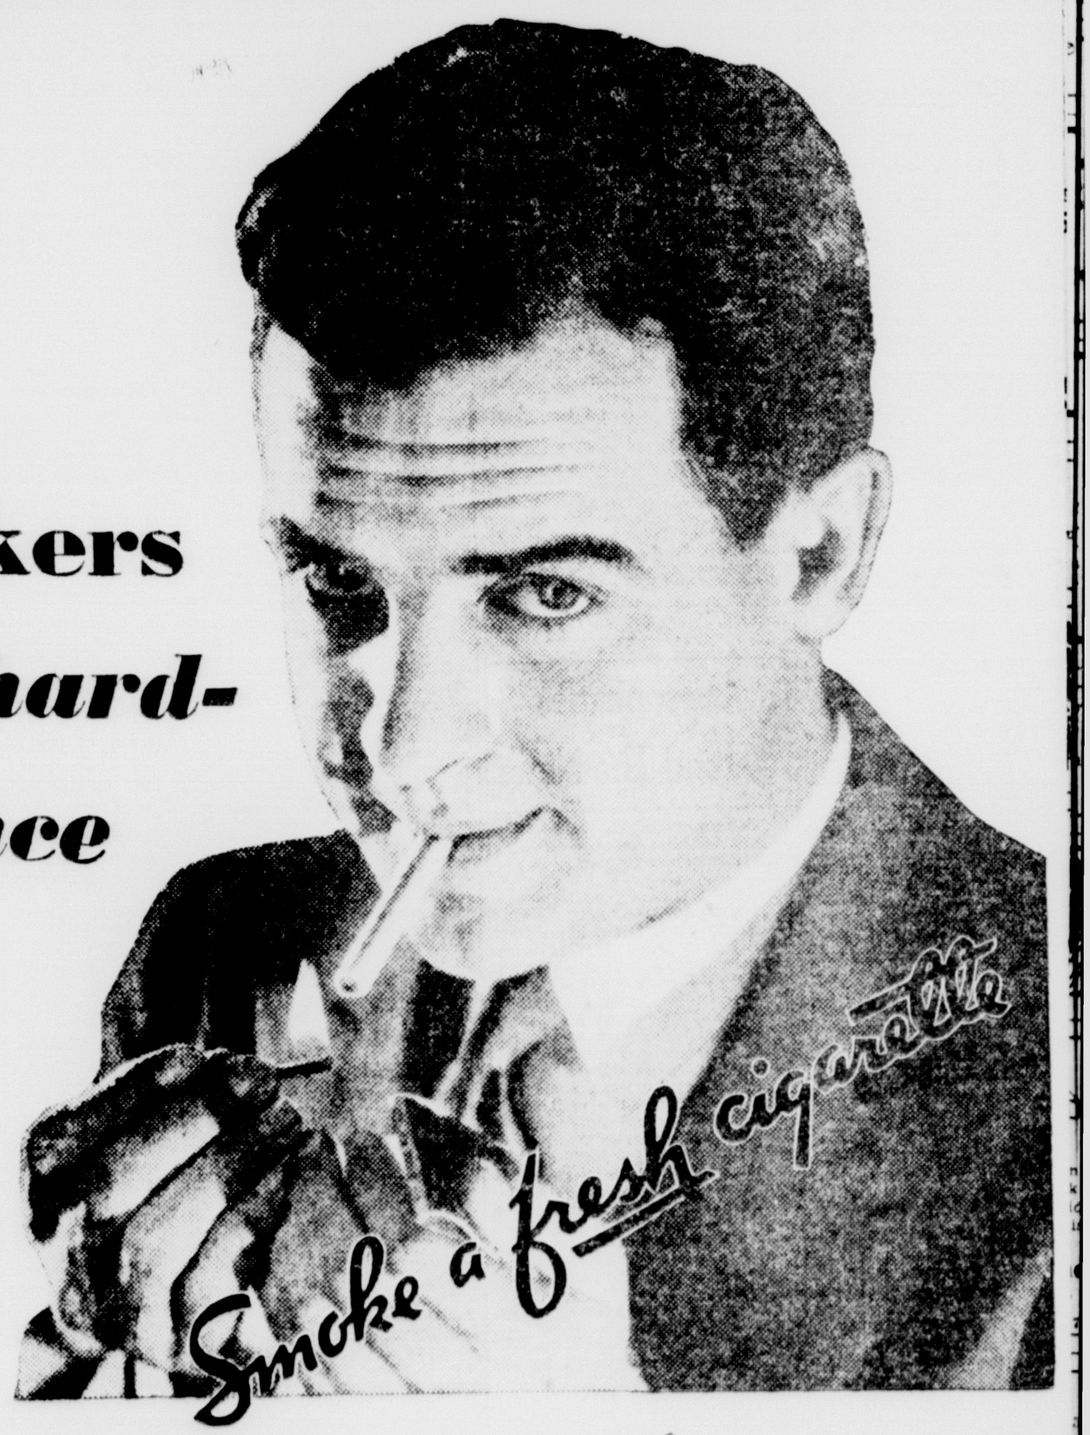
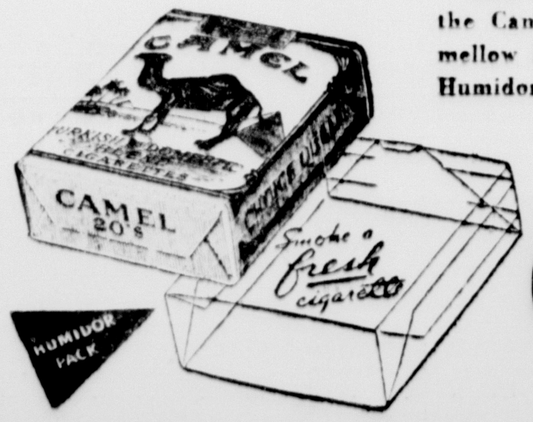
To smokers who are hard-to-convince


Smoke a fresh cigarette
WE LIKE nothing better than to induce hard-to-convince smokers to switch to Camels for just one day.
For we know that after they have made a real test, it will be mighty hard to lure them away from this famous brand.
It's not easy to smoke parched-dry cigarettes once you have known the delights of perfectly conditioned Camels.
After inhaling the cool, soft fragrance of the Camel Blend of choice Turkish and mellow Domestic tobaccos protected by the Humidor Pack, your throat protests against the bite and sting and harsh hotness that comes from crumbly, dry tobacco.
No matter where you pick them up, in any land, in any climate, Camels are the same fresh, factory-prime cigarettes.
For the Humidor Pack of moisture-proof Cellophane air-seals all the flavor in and keeps out weather, dust and germs.
This is no mere advertising story. It is a recitation of fact that has made the whole country conscious of a new superiority in Camels.
If you are hard to convince, won't you switch to Camels for just one day? Then leave them—if you can.



Tune in CAMEL QUARTER HOUR featuring Morton Downey and Tony Wons Columbia Broadcasting System—every night except Sunday
CAMELS
NO CIGARETTY AFTER-TASTE
Don't remove the moisture-proof Cellophane from your package of Camels after you open it. The Humidor Pack is protection against sweat, dust and germs. It delivers fresh Camels and keeps them right until you smoke the last one

SOCIETY and CLUBS

Maurice Cleaver and Miss Helen Duncan Wedded Thursday Morning

The marriage of Miss Helen Duncan to Maurice Cleaver took place here Thursday morning at 10 o'clock at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. W. B. Duncan, 125 Pine Bluff street, Dr. F. L. Wear, pastor of Central Presbyterian church officiating in the presence of a number of relatives and friends.

There were no attendants except the ribbon bearers and the ring bearer, the bride and groom descending the stairway together and approaching an altar in the living room for the ceremony, as Mrs. H. H. McClanahan played the "Bridal Chorus" from "Lohengrin."

The fireplace at the east end of the living room was transformed into an altar with a pyramid of potted palms and ferns, garlands of clematis and vases of white zinnias and Shasta daisies, lighted by white tapers in silver candelabra. White flowers and tapers were also used for decoration elsewhere in the room.

The ribbon bearers formed an aisle from the doorway of the room to the altar, with white satin ribbons knotted with clusters of clematis. The two little girls, Frances Ragland and Edith Williams, wore frocks of embroidered pink French voile, with wrist bouquets of pastel colored sweetpeas.

Small Miss Priscilla Chachere, of Dallas, wearing blue embroidered voile, carried the ring in a small Colonial bouquet.

The bride's costume was a suit of skipper blue flat crepe, with a vestee of French blue, and her accessories were all in the darker blue shade. She wore a corsage bouquet of sweetheart roses and lilies of the valley.

After the wedding, a heart-shaped bride's cake was cut for favors and served with punch. Assisting in serving were Misses Mary Louise Mayo of Highland Park, Ill., Alice Fairfax, Mary Moore, and Elizabeth Williams, and Mrs. C. O. McCain, Jr., of Springfield, Mo.

Out-of-town guests present included the bride's brother, Walter Duncan of St. Louis, Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Chachere and little daughter, of Dallas, R. E. Kenny, William Scanland and Mrs. Roy Litsey, also of Dallas, and Mr. and Mrs. Lee Elliott of McKinney.

The bride comes of one of the pioneer families of Paris, being the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. George P. Henley, and daughter of the late W. B. Duncan and Mrs. Duncan. She was born and reared here and after her graduation from Paris schools, attended the state teachers' college at Phoenix, Ariz., preparatory to her work as a member of the high school faculty here. She has been the recipient of a number of social courtesies tendered by a wide circle of friends, since announcement of her engagement.

Mr. Cleaver, son of Mrs. F. F. Chachere of Dallas, is graduate of Texas A. and M. college, and has been located in Paris the past year as district traffic manager for the Southwestern Bell Telephone company. He is a member of the University club and the Young Men's Luncheon club here.

A picnic supper, swim and informal dance at Gordon Country club Thursday evening for members of the younger sets was chaperoned by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Manton.

Those present included Misses Louise Scott, Mary Isabel Manton, Nellie Anderson, and her two guests, Maurine Allen of Yorktown and Elizabeth Carney of Wichita, Kan.; Virginia Baxter, Emma Lou Walker, Ione and Ruth Wright, Eugenia Crook and Mary Jo Masse; William Scott, Frank Ivy, David Haefele, Morris Bass, J. T. Evans, Parkhill Shelton, William Hale, Robert Lewis and Keeler Steinheimer.

Bridge-Tea Is Given For Recent Bride

Mrs. George P. Blackburn complimented Mrs. Hardy Moore, a bride of the past month, with a delightful bridge-tea Thursday afternoon at her home on Bonham street.

Six tables were arranged for the players, and about thirty guests were invited for the tea hour.

The rooms were attractively decorated for the occasion with a wealth of summer garden flowers in pastel shades.

In the games, the high score prize, two decks of cards, was won by the honoree, who was also presented by Mrs. Blackburn with an imported sandwich set.

Pretty frilled containers filled with old fashioned flowers, formed the centerpieces for the refreshment trays, and were received as table cuts by Mrs. Harry Holden, Miss Mary Moore, Mrs. Edward Norment, Miss Mary Harris, Mrs. Robert Murphy, and Miss Mary Louise Mayo of Highland Park, Ill.

Assisting the hostess in serving were Miss Elizabeth Williams, Mrs. Mitchell Ragland, Mrs. Jimmie Clark, Mrs. Henry House and Mrs. G. F. Thornhill.

Obstinate Ford Of 1914 Vintage Wins Encounter

You can't teach an old dog new tricks nor can you teach a 1914 Ford not to kick—so says Joe Binion after a wrestling match with the Ford.

The Ford—one of those collegiate affairs which seem to delight the heart of young men—is said to be the oldest one in Paris. It is the property of Elwyn Sebastian, clerk at the Palace Drug Store soda fountain. "Elizabeth," being such an ancient lady, has to be cranked. Binion got out in front of the car Tuesday in front of those flood lights which run by igniting carbon sticks. He took hold of the crank gave it spin. Elizabeth made no response. Again Binion tried to turn the motor and again the motor refused. The mercury was trying to push the top of the thermometer off while the lad perspired in his attempt to turn the engine.

At last he gave the crank a desperate spin, around and around it went. But Elizabeth did not like the idea, the weather was hot so she like all women when abused, kicked.

The result—Binion is nursing a broken arm.

Prominent Women Speakers At CIA

DENTON, June 18.—Mrs. R. F. Lindsay of Mt. Pleasant, president of Texas Federation of Women's clubs, was one of the outstanding speakers for the closing programs, June 18-20, of the first session of the Summer Institute for Women, held at Texas State College for Women (C. I. A.) The subject of Mrs. Lindsay's lecture was "What can club women contribute to the solution of the present economic situation?"

Other prominent women included on this program are Miss Ollie Coon, of Greenville, editor of Texas Federation News; Miss Lione Wimberly, county home demonstration agent, Dallas county; and Mrs. Maggie W. Barry, specialist in rural women's organizations, college station.

The second session of the institute will begin Monday, June 22 with an entirely new program.

HANGING VICTIM

thorities were expected to investigate the sending of the letters through the mails.

The volunteer preacher said he left the hotel where he works shortly after midnight, taking the last bus to the suburban district where he lives. When he alighted from the bus and started walking toward his home a masked man suddenly stepped in front of him, leveled a gun at him and commanded him to walk to the church two blocks distant.

Three Others Waiting

"On going into the church auditorium," Brown said, "I saw three other men standing near the chancel rail. Without a word between them they tied my hands behind my back and tied my feet together. A noose was put about my neck and the other end of the rope was thrown over a chandelier.

"Before they pulled me off the floor, they asked if I had a 'dying request.' This made me mad and I told them my wife knew what my dying request would be."

Then they kicked him and slapped him, he said, and tore his clothes off him. He exhibited a bruise on one of his legs which he said was made by his assailants.

Chair Placed Nearby.

"After pulling me off the floor they put a folding chair under my feet, just below the tips of my toes. As they went away, one of them told me the chair wouldn't hold my weight even if I got my feet on it.

"I felt alone at first but after praying a bit, I felt like God was present."

He said he kicked about and the rope stretched until his feet rested on the chair, when he stood on tiptoe. He tore off strips of adhesive tape with which the men bound his mouth and began calling for help.

His wife had become alarmed at his failure to return and summoned Rev. Mr. Marler and police. They were attracted to the church by Brown's cries and quickly cut the rope, liberating him.

Hugo Woman Dies Here

Miss Christeen Burris, 21-years-old, Hugo, died at 9:50 o'clock Thursday night at the Sanitarium of Paris. The body was removed to Hugo for burial.

Only eight men of Sherman's brigade, organized by Sen. John Sherman, brother of the Union general, remain alive.

SERMON TO YOUNG PEOPLE THURSDAY

Rev. Harlin J. Roper Talks On Four Problems Confronting Youth

The subject of the sermon on Thursday evening at First Congregational church revival was "Four Problems for Young People" and there was a good number of young people present. The evangelist, the Rev. Harlin J. Roper, sang "Let Me Dream On" and little Bettie Jean King and Carolyne Carter sang a duet, "Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ."

The scripture reading was taken from Ecclesiastes 11:9, "Rejoice, young man, in thy youth, and walk in the ways of thine heart, and in the sight of thine eyes: but know thou that for all these things God will bring you into judgment."

Mr. Roper said: "I believe one of the most important problems that confront young people today is education. There is a tendency to minimize God. The one example of that is the teaching that we are only a higher order of life, that we came up from a lower to a higher form. Another tendency is that of making machines of men. We are told by some that man is not responsible for anything that he does; the same temptation that comes into your life will create the same temptation that it does in my life. Another tendency in education is to magnify the principles of Jesus. They tell us that Christ was the greatest teacher that ever walked this earth. He was a great teacher, but it is the will of the Lord that we believe on the Lord Jesus Christ.' There is a tendency to deaden your responsibility to God. Another tendency is to destroy your pure confidence in the Word of God. It is a most dangerous thing to begin to doubt any of God's Word. The purpose of education is that we might follow God along in His truth.

"Another problem is the young person's attitude toward worldly amusements. I believe that the young person has to first decide what his mission in life is. The young person is the steward of his life. The story of the good Samaritan is an example of young people. The thief represents the person who says 'what is yours is mine if I can get it;' the Levite, one who says 'what is yours is yours and mine;' the Samaritan 'what is mine is yours if you need it worse than I do.' The Samaritan is a very good example for the world, but the Christian's attitude should be 'what is mine is yours whether I need it or not.' We are expected, as Christians, to witness in the midst of a crooked and perverse generation.

"Lastly, the problem of life work: you may say 'How can I know what God wants me to do?' There are three calls for the young people in this respect: First, there is the call to come for salvation, secondly, the call to abide, (John 15:7), and thirdly, the call to present yourselves to Him."

Friday evening will be the last service in this series and the subject will be "The Second Coming of Christ According to the Scripture."

OIL PRODUCTION

when the plan suggested by Tom E. Cranfill of Dallas, president of the independent petroleum association of Texas, was indorsed.

C. P. Burton of the Burton Drilling company, appointed at the Tyler mass meeting as a representative to confer with proration violators made a report in which he stated he had conferred with 38 violators in the East Texas field and 90 per cent had agreed to abide by the Cranfill voluntary production plan.

The other ten per cent he said faced individual problems which could be solved and were not especially opposed to the plan.

A. B. Capers, Lathrop pool proration umpire, said operators were showing a spirit of unusual cooperation under the Cranfill plan.

The common agreement at the Tyler mass meeting Monday was that production in the entire field would be pinched in at 10 a. m. Saturday, although some operators were allowed until 7 a. m. June 26, pending completion of arrangements to abide by the agreement.

Pantages Jury Fails to Agree

SAN DIEGO, June 18 (AP)—The trial of Alexander Pantages, multi-millionaire showman, and three others on conspiracy and morals charges ended Thursday in a disagreement of the jurors after 24 hours deliberation. A date for retrial was set tentatively for July 13.

Pantages and Jesse H. Shreve, wealthy San Diego business man, were charged with conspiring with the alleged operators of a Hollywood "girl market," Olive Clark Day and William Jobelmann, to bring Lydia Nitto, a minor, here from Los Angeles for immoral purposes; the trial began May 25 and was placed in the hands of a jury of nine men and three women at noon Wednesday.

Negroes To Observe Day Of Emancipation With Fetes

June the nineteenth!

Friday is emancipation day and all negroes in Lamar county and elsewhere are celebrating the fact that their freedom was given to them by the United States Government back in 1864.

"What do you generally do on Emancipation Day," a News reporter asked one of the Dark Town laddies on Guests corner Thursday night.

"Wall," he replied, "most of us niggers just gonally has a picnic and goes a fishin' and den at night dere is allus a dance and takes dat in."

The picnic appears to be the most popular way of celebrating the day. Darkies congregate and then go allover the county to have their fishing party and picnic dinner in combination with a fish fry. In the past, the first load of watermelons of the season has been brought into Paris for Emancipation day. The negroes are just a little worried, they say, because the melons have not arrived, (at least they haven't seen them yet.)

When asked why they were so worried about the melons, the negro said "You know, dere just ain't no 'Mancipation Day worth nothin' 'thout watamelons."

The significance of Emancipation day for the negro is that it means that he is a free citizen, entitled to vote, to live as the white man does, that he no longer wears the yoke of slavedom. Of course, there are numerous negroes who declare that "de good ole days were when they were slaves of the white man of the south, because the southern plantation owner generally treated them kindly. June the nineteenth is something like the Fourth of July is to the white man in that they are both days of celebration of freedom. While the negro celebrates his freedom from slavery, the white man and all the United States celebrate on July the Fourth the fact that on that day independence from the yoke of Great Britain was declared.

Another form of celebration Friday for the darkies is the dance to be given at Griffen's Pleasure Garden with Sugar Lou and Eddie, an orchestra from Tyler, playing dance music. The dance will start about 8:30 o'clock Friday night.

Richard Harty And Miss Frieda Jantz Are Wed

Announcement is made of the marriage of Richard Harty, formerly of Paris, to Miss Frieda Jantz of Wichita Falls on Sunday morning at Walters, Okla., the Rev. George C. Hutto, minister of the First Baptist church there officiating. Witnessing the ceremony were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Harty, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Harty, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hatfield, Mr. and Mrs. A. Jantz and Miss Lucile Patterson.

The bride has been associated the past year with a Wichita Falls beauty shop, and Mr. Harty, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Harty of Paris, is connected with the S. H. Kress company at Wichita Falls.

After a week's visit with relatives here, they will be at home at 1502 Monroe street in Wichita Falls.

City Employes Are Entertained By Mayor Crook

More than 100 city employes and their friends attended the picnic given by Mayor J. M. Crook Thursday night from 5:30 o'clock to 9 o'clock at Lake Crook. A short talk by Hardy Moore and foot races were the events of the evening.

In his eulogy of Mayor Crook, Moore commended the administration on its sound economic policies, commented on the non-cut in employes' salaries and spoke of the graveling and repairing of streets without issue of bonds—a feat heretofore unprecedented.

A lemon relay race between teams composed of fifteen runners respectively of the street and water works departments was won by the street department. Mrs. Jewel Holmes and Miss Thelma Broline participated in the 750-yard relay.

A three-legged race contested by policemen and visitors was won by Pete Reeves and John Wilburn.

All members of police and fire departments attended the picnic by attendance in relays.

Food was prepared by Mrs. Jewel Holmes, Miss Thelma Broline and Hugh White—all employed by the city.

Truman Johnson acted as master of ceremonies.

THE ZOO TO HAVE A COW

THE Detroit Zoological park is to add an ordinary milk cow to its collection of animals this season. The cow, which will be included in a general barnyard exhibit, will satisfy the curiosity of juvenile Detroiters, thousands of whom, it is said, have never seen a cow except in pictures or from a train window.

A cow is not a romantic nor even an inspiring animal, but it marks a transition point in American life when a cow is enough of a curiosity that it can be put on exhibition in a zoo. It is another evidence of the growing urban life of America. It will be equally logical some day to include a horse, or chickens and turkeys.

In his opportunities for book learning and for creature conveniences, the city child of today has it all over the children of a generation ago, but he pays a large price for such advantages in getting his nature study in an artificial way. So there seems no good reason on the whole why a cow should not be included in the zoo.

A FEDERAL AUTO TAX

HINTS continue to come from Washington that congress is to be asked to put some sort of tax on automobiles and their use, or both. The latest suggestion is that a federal tax on gasoline would be very productive, easily collected and spread over many millions of contributors.

The argument is the same one that Secretary Mellon gave in favor of retaining the sales tax on automobiles—that the railroads pay taxes to the government, and thus contribute to the aid which the government gives each year to the building of state roads, although trucks and buses uses these roads in competition with the railroads. Therefore the motor car ought to contribute to the federal treasury as well as the railroads.

The motor car already pays higher—far higher taxes than any other property. All we can say is that if the federal government persists in adding an automobile tax of its own it will find out, at the next election, who hit Billy Smith.

FALL AND PRISON

IF a jury of the people as a whole were to sit in the case of Albert B. Fall, former secretary of the interior, would it require the aging, dying man to pay the penalty imposed upon him for his part in the Teapot Dome affair.

This question arises in many minds as it becomes apparent that only executive clemency can save him from spending a year in prison. The $100,000 fine imposed upon him the government can not collect because Fall has nothing.

Were the public disposed to show the suffering old man mercy, it would probably be due in large part to the travesty of justice which freed the two rich conspirators who paid the bribe while convicting the tempted public official.

But the Fall case now stands on its own merits. If sending him to jail—probably to die there—would deter others from betraying public trusts, or would exert a reformative influence upon the malefactor, then the sentence should be served. But the former secretary of the interior will not live long enough to sin again and it is doubtful that punishing Fall will have a deterrent effect upon others in whose minds the acquittal of the other two is still fresh.

A BETTER ETHICAL TONE

TWO decades ago the business interests of the country undertook searching self-regulation to enforce by publicity, persuasion and other constructive means observance of the fair-play principle in merchandising and advertising. This movement since known as the National Better Business Bureau, lately has received the additional support and reinforcement from a national committee composed of 57 representative business and industrial executives.

There is a profound wisdom in this attempt of business to right its methods from within and by force of its own good sense and higher motives. The system of advertising, whereby one offering goods or services to the public sets forth himself the merits of his wares, lends itself to exaggeration and unwarranted pretentions. The damage of such untruthfulness usually affects only the advertiser, yet in certain cases public health and the general welfare of society may be involved.

It is encouraging that modesty, good judgment and wholesome restraint is prevailing among the best business elements and the desire to suppress flagrant abuses is achieving a degree of success. In the long run, experience has proved that the most powerful advertising sticks to demonstrable truth. The advertising that brings satisfactory returns must confine its aims to educating and informing the public in matters of business which return to the public a full dollar of value for every dollar invested to be spent.

There are great openings in Hollywood still. A recent Hollywood news item said: "The new star is a tall slender girl, with fair skin, deep blue eyes, a rather large mouth, which when she smiles discloses perfect teeth and dainty feet."—Indianapolis Journal.

At one of the big garages down town an apple-vending machine has been installed, which looks like a deliberate thrust at the unemployed.—Kansas City Star.

ALL OF US

By Marshall Maslin

WHY WERE YOU BITTER? BECAUSE YOU WERE HURT BECAUSE YOU DIDN'T UNDERSTAND

HAVE you been bitter? Have you sneered at life? Have you said there is no Truth, no Courage, no Loyalty, no Fairness in this world?

And did you learn, at last, what was wrong with you? Did you find that you had been bitter because you had been hurt?

Almost always that's the trouble. We are bitter because we have been hurt. We are hurt and we want our revenge. We abuse life, we abuse people, we nurse our wrath, and we walk the streets like sandwich men advertising that we are martyrs to injustice. We do not carry a pain sign, but we advertise our bitterness through the sadness in the eyes and the droop of the mouth.

Marshall Maslin

And why were we hurt?

Because we were ignorant. Because we'd built a wall between ourselves and other people. Because we had the wrong idea about life and human beings.

We expected too much. We asked too much. We weren't perfect, but we expected other people to be so. We wanted life to take care of us and we didn't realize that we must take care of ourselves. We called ourselves idealists and we didn't know we were just foolish children.

Then something happened. There was sickness, there was poverty; there was death and there was loneliness. We were terrified, humiliated, disappointed and angry. So we said: "At last we know the truth. Now we know what human beings are really like. Nobody cares what happens to us. This is a world of Dog-eat-Dog and every man for himself." We called ourselves "disillusioned" and the cheerful grin became a snarl and the childish faith became distrust.

That's how it happened, and it happened because we were blind and foolish and we didn't know ourselves any better than we knew other people. We were selfish and we thought we were trustful. We were weak and we thought we were Noble Beings. And when life put us to the test, we turned cowards and were bitter.

I've done that so often that I know this is true. And if you will examine yourself you may find that it is true of you, too.

INDIVIDUALISM URGED TO AVOID PREJUDICES IN IMPROVING SOCIETY

By Ray Lyman Wilbur
Secretary of the Interior

INDIVIDUALS undergo transformations with growth, but the human family is much the same as it has been throughout the years. Our society is seeking progressive betterment, not perfection. This betterment depends upon a whole series of individual actions, many of which are within the control of the individual, others of which can be greatly modified through training and mass psychology. In all of our disciplines and education we have to compare the effects of actual personal experience with results achieved in other ways.

One of the most foolish things in our modern life is the "try-every-thing-once" psychology. If every one tried everything once society would be a mess. Fortunately, the wiser among our youth let the other man try a good many things and watch results. This is what we call intelligence, letting the other man fall over the unnecessary hurdles.

Prejudices are predominant in much thinking and action. The educated individual should realize that the acceptance of a prejudice by him is a mere shortcut to joining the crowd. To fight a prejudice is to stand for your own personality and individuality. To stand on your own feet is the basis of training.

Unless education reaches deep into the fundamentals of life it is of transient value.

It may well sharpen an individual's wits so he may prey upon society rather than serve society unless there goes with his classroom and college training some of the forces that will develop spiritual and religious attitudes.

Learning to work in unison with your neighbor should be part of the educational process. Learning to respect your own value as an individual and that of the value of other persons goes hand in hand with this.

Perhaps the greatest lesson in education is to develop respect for those who have accepted the longest periods of training and have become our experts. Professorships can not be obtained through the chance of birth or the fullness of the pocket.

True education teaches us our place and our privileges. It brings us a glow of pleasure in the good work of others. It teaches us respect for those who look at truth unafraid. It inspires to united effort in the common tasks of men and makes for that contributing citizenship the steady recruiting of which gives us a wholesome and enduring nation.

STAR LORE

NECESSITY FOR A TELESCOPE IN LUNAR OBSERVATION

THE moon, observed with the unaided eye, is a very wonderful spectacle. Certain parts of its surface may be seen with naked eye to possess a rather dark appearance. Those darker areas are vast plains at lower levels than the other brighter regions. With assistance of the opera glass one will be enabled to see the rough surface of our lunar neighbor. A small telescope will make the lunar craters more vivid while a six-inch refracting telescope, with magnifying power of 500 diameters, will bring the moon visually within 500 miles of the earth. Areas less than one-half mile wide may be seen distinctly.

With all the tony names the car manufacturers think up for common colors like red and green, it is odd that black continues to be black. It could so easily be Arabian Night or something of the kind.—Detroit News.

Comments From Contemporaries

TEXARKANA GAZETTE

Samuel R. McKelvie's flat statement at London that the United States will never consent to dumping its surplus wheat on the world market is encouraging. Just how far it will aid in the great problem of stabilizing the world wheat market is problematical; but it at least makes those millions of bushels of government-owned wheat look a little less menacing to the wheat growers of the world.

Meanwhile, there remains the question—what is to be done with this wheat? If it is not to be dumped on the market, how is it to be disposed of? One imagines that there will be some new furrows in various brows at Washington before the question is finally answered.

Another question that is cause for worry revolves around the new crops. Will the wheat farmers continue to produce surpluses? It would be little avail to withhold the present surplus from the world markets if an additional surplus is to be produced each year.

Perhaps no mayor ever went into office in any American city under more handicaps than did the democratic mayor of Chicago who followed Big Bill Thompson. That large city has been virtually 'broke' for several years, and the new mayor inherited the condition. However, there is a ray of hope and light. While there is no money as yet, Chicago bankers have advertised in the newspapers of that city that they will buy at face value the bonds and interest coupons of the city and of Cook county, Illinois, as they come due until the city's finances are straightened out. Seven of the leading banks have joined in the movement. And this reminds us of the old saying that the banker is the town's best friend.

The writing of crime stories entered upon a new phase with the issuing of "The Mouthpiece," a monthly magazine published by ex-cons for the edification of good citizens. Following is the sort of stuff ground out:

"Yesterday, at lock-up hour, as we stood by our cells on the top tier he repeatedly declared:

"'I'll beat that loom yet—watch me.'

"Leaning against the rail he appeared to be measuring the distance to the floor below—60 feet and concrete. His eyes were glassy and unblinking. He trembled and laughed aloud. We looked at him in amazement—it was that kind of laughter.

"The signal was given us to step into our cells. He, however, calmly remarked to no one in particular:

"'This is how I'll beat that loom—'

"And with that he crossed himself, stepped atop the railing and dove headlong below.

"A dull thud. He knew no more looms.

"A voice, raucous and sobbing, broke the stillness.

"'Never mind Joey, I'll make them pay for that.'

"The farewell of a partner. The vow, I know, was well fulfilled."

Knows His Stuff.

One of the swankiest of New York's tavern keepers is a Corsican. For 25 years he salaamed to the Satin Section of Tammany Town and, having at length acquired sufficient cash, built himself a plush-lined joint where he may shower on an elite clientele all the resentment he accumulated in his Corsican soul in his quarter-century of neck-bending. Now harken to him:

"In the old days," he says, "they bred better snobs."

Who knows? He may be right. Certainly he is in a position to speak with authority.

In the News 13 Years Ago

From the files of The Paris Morning News thirteen years ago today.

Wednesday, June 19, 1918.

The negroes celebrated Emancipation day as usual and 24 of them were sent by Exemption Board No. 2 to Camp Travis.

Tom Hendricks of Antlers, accidentally shot by his own pistol in the hands of his baby, died at the sanitarium where he had been brought Sunday.

A farmer from Bagor reported that in order to get cotton chopped they had to haul negroes from Arthur City each morning and back at night and pay them $2.50 a day.

Leroy Moore of Deport and Miss Lula Mullins of Detroit were married at Detroit by Rev. W. E. Kendall of Paris.

Backward Glances

By A. W. Neville

City council meeting in Paris used to be long-drawn and sometimes stormy affairs. With eight aldermen elected by the voters of their wards instead of the whole people, there were sectional jealousies that made for such bickering.

The administration of W. H. Sluder, from 1886 to 1888, was unusually quiet, he being a well-balanced man and having an unusually good council. He was not a candidate for a second term and Richard Wooldridge was elected mayor in 1888. Mr. Wooldridge was a lawyer, had been county attorney some years before and sought the nomination for state senate but the convention of delegates from Red River, Fannin and Lamar, then the district, turned him down and nominated H. D. McDonald.

In the Wooldridge council, elected at the same time, were aldermen Lee Preston, C. N. Allen, G. W. Campbell and J. D. Wortham, and the holdover aldermen were J. C. Gibbons, P. H. Allen, J. W. Fulton and Alex Cate. This council determined the city should have a city hall and fire department building and passed an ordinance to issue $20,000 in bonds to pay for it. Mayor Wooldridge vetoed the ordinance and the council promptly passed it over his veto, only Gibbons and Wortham voting to uphold it.

This and other things set the mayor and council at odds, and when the mayor refused to call a meeting of the council on Jan 24, 1889, when requested by six members, the aldermen brought the matter to a head. At the regular meeting January 28, Aldermen Preston and Campbell offered a resolution setting forth the mayor's refusal to call the meeting, his refusal to speak to members of the council when they assembled without a call, his leaving the council chamber without recognizing the body, instructing the secretary to issue no scrip to the aldermen in pay for that meeting even though none of them had asked for pay. The resolution then added that the mayor had acted in a manner unbecoming a gentleman and had brought discredit on the office and forfeited the respect of the council and had insulted the members and the dignity of the city and "the mayor is therefore hereby requested to resign." The resolution was adopted, but Mayor Wooldridge did not resign. His term was cut short however by the adoption of a charter which swept the municipal slate clean and at an election in May, 1889, M. J. Hathaway was chosen mayor after Mr. Wooldridge had served a little over one year. He had the unique experience of being the only Paris mayor asked to quit the job.

Honolulu's high death rate from diphtheria, which had been steadily increasing since 1922, was cut in half following an immunization campaign carried on by the city board of health in the late fall of 1929, according to a report of the Territorial board of health. During this 1929 campaign and a second carried on in the fall of 1930, 24,444 school and pre-school children received treatments, over half of them in the younger group.

Diet and Health

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D., Author of "THE HUMAN BO

Dr. Clendening

Reflex headaches mean those which are caused by the strain or disease of some part of the body—the strain being reflected in the form of headache, not by pain or distress of the organ actually abnormal.

The commonest of these are headaches from eye strain. They usually appear first in youth and often early in school life when any strain which is put on the eyes first makes itself known because then for the first time close work is begun. The characteristic thing about eye-strain headaches is that they appear in the afternoon or evening. In the morning the patient wakes up without discomfort. This is exactly the opposite from another form of reflex headache—that due to disease of the sinuses of the nose—which is likely to worse in the morning after a night of congestion in the nose and lack of drainage.

The treatment of eye-strain headaches is to fit the patient to perfectly adapted glasses. Since eye-strain headaches are caused by very slight deviations of the lens of the eye—astigmatism and moderate degrees of short and long sightedness—it is almost impossible to fit glasses for such a patient properly without putting drops in the eyes to relax the muscles.

The reflex headache due to disease of the nose has just been mentioned. The pain of such a headache may be exactly over the sinus which is diseased, or it may be general over the whole head. The frontal sinus is one of the easiest to be stopped up because the hole through which it drains is very small. The frontal sinuses are just over the orbits of the eyes and severe pain in this place can usually be attributed to infection of one or the other of the sinuses. Immediate relief is obtained when the sinus is opened and the contained secretion emptied.

A form of headache due to lumps and scar tissue in the neck has been described. The lumps and hardnesses are not evident casual inspection or even feeli but can be made out in the n muscles if carefully felt for. M sage and hot applications to neck are the means of cure.

Another form of reflex he ache has been ascribed to impa ed unerupted molar teeth, parti larly a third molar or wisd tooth. Personally, I have had successful experience with suc condition, but mention it beca men of ability have described i Malposition of the uterus other organs are by some ph cians thought to be the cause chronic headaches. Here a my own experience is in the ne tive but success from pr treatment of such defects has ten been reported.

Guiding Your Child

HAPPY CHILDHOOD.

By Mrs. Agnes Lyne.

Parents are in the habit of taking for granted that their children are happy. Being children, they must be—they have nothing to worry about.

This general assumption of happiness is in part based on the mistaken idea that the needs of children are the needs of small adults, that these, being cared for, the child has nothing to do but enjoy himself. Many of us who have not forgotten what life was like 20 or 30 years ago can remember all too keenly that our deepest pain, humiliation and disillusionment happened during that first decade of our lives when we were supposed by our elders to be so divinely happy.

When John is bored, and Nancy is lazy, when Grace is listless and Daniel is irritable, they are not simply naughty children, they are far more likely to be very unhappy children. Viewed from the adult standpoint, they seem to have cause only for gladness and contentment. But the child's world and the adult world are miles apart. It requires much more than exemption from a worries to make the days of ch hood happy.

If we are to be good parent must see the world from child's point of view. We m understand that the baseball t is a serious matter, that the rent "club" is the hub of the verse, that the disloyalty of adored playmate is as devasta in its hour as the faithlessnes a lover in years to come.

When we disregard the ch own values, discount the imp ance of his affairs, and scof his emotional upheavals we spoiling the happiness of childhood as surely as if we him regularly with a stick. W we regard laziness and irritab as "pure cussedness" we as ents are behaving very much a doctor who disregards his tients' symptoms. For the child is a child whose spirit sick. It is our job to find what disappointments, doubts fears lie behind his unpleasant havior.

Childhood should be in t the happiest time of all, bu takes parental sympathy and sight to make it so.

WASHINGTON.—For looking at the question from a moist standpoint) or against (viewing it from the dry angle) the plan urged by beer wets, such as Representative Leonidas C. Dyer of St. Louis, who recently got as far as President Hoover himself with his four per cent argument, there is still one thing to be said, at any rate—

Brewery products might possibly be reintroduced into circulation without a constitutional amendment.

Dyer contends that 4 per cent beer is non-intoxicating.

If so, the Volstead act need simply be changed accordingly—from one-half of 1 per cent to a maximum 4.

That could be done (assuming the votes to be available) by a bare majority, whereas, as we know, the Eighteenth amendment can be tinkered with by not less than two-thirds, plus ratification by three-quarters of the states, a mighty large preponderance for even the most optimistic wet to look forward to hopefully.

This is the proposed formula referred to by prohibition modifications as relaxation of the dry regime "by definition."

Occasionally the issue is raised. "Why can't the limit be increased to 25 per cent—or 50—or 100?"

That however, leaves out of consideration the supreme court's voice in the matter.

If congress ever does undertake to "define" non-intoxicating beverages upward from one-half of 1 per cent, it is a foregone conclusion that only a very wet supreme court can be relied to recognize any drink with a 100 per cent alcoholic content as non-intoxicating, and therefore constitutional under the Eighteenth amendment. Or 50 per cent. Or

SITE OF GIRL SCOUT CAMP

Since Monday the High School troop of the Girl Scouts of Paris have been holding their annual summer camp at the Lamar Country Club, above, with about 45 girls registered at the camp. The screened porch which can be seen in the picture is where the sleeping quarters of the campers is.

When a Girl Scout has a birthday and her troop is in camp it means fun for all concerned and especially the Girl Scout herself. Thursday at Lamar Country club where the High School troop of Girl Scouts is encamped for the week, a birthday party was given for Claire Cox.

Every girl in the camp can now swim. Thursday afternoon there were at one time four instructors helping the girls who could not swim well. The principles of the water sport were learned and the girls were taught to paddle themselves around in the lake. Some of the better swimmers are learning to dive.

Instructor J. W. Ivy says that his archery class is improving rapidly. "Several of the Girl Scouts are going to be real shooters," Mr. Ivy says. "The form of some of the girls when they shoot with bow and arrow is above par and I see no reason why the Girl Scouts should not have a real archery team in the future."

Supper was cooked over an open fire on the island at the lake. Toasted buns, weinies, potato salad—everything for an out-of-doors supper was fixed. Just as the meal was about finished two cakes given by Miss Hettie Wood were presented to the girls and to Claire Cox because of her 14th birthday. A celebration was held when Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Cox brought out another cake and a case of cold drinks for the Scouts.

A party was given by Miss Wood for the Scouts Thursday night at the club house in honor of the birthday of Miss Cox. Music of all sorts, songs by the Scouts, dancing and then refreshments featured the evening.

The girls are having what they term a "perfectly marvelous time" at the camp. Besides a few blistered backs and a new supply of freckles there have been no unpleasant things happening at this camp. In the morning there is inspection and classes in clay modeling and other crafts. Breakfast has been cooked on the island every day by the girls but at noon a meal is prepared for them by a negro cook. During the morning a swim under instruction and supervision is held. The afternoons are given over to archery, rest and then swimming and fun in general.

PRAIRIE DOG IS LATEST FIND IN LAUNDRY BUNDLE

"Do you want your prairie dog washed and ironed or cleaned and pressed?" Laundryman Bob Cook asked one of his customers on the telephone Thursday morning.

Many a strange thing comes out of laundry bundles, but Cook & Coker employes got a thrill of a lifetime when they opened a bundle Thursday and a nonchalant young prairie dog sauntered across the floor.

Owners of the young fellow had not missed him after inadvertently tying him up in the laundry bundle until phoned by Bob Cook.

The prodigal pup, properly known as Cynomys Ludovicianus, was returned home by a member of Cook & Coker's flying squadron of route men.

Funeral Thursday For D. L. Tomblin

Funeral services for D. L. Tomblin, 64-year-old resident of Direct, Route 2, who died at his home at 12:20 o'clock Thursday morning were held at 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon at Vernon cemetery. Lee Hunter conducted the service.

Mr. Tomblin, formerly engaged in farming, had lived in Lamar county during 53 years following his departure from Tennessee. He had been a lifelong member of the Missionary Baptist church.

Surviving are three daughters, Mrs. Maude Glass of Oklahoma, Mrs. Nellie Ausmus of Direct and Miss Effie Tomblin of Direct; two step-sons and one step-daughter.

Honey Grove Social Affairs And News Notes

HONEY GROVE, June June 18—Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Clayton attended a reunion of the descendants of Joseph and Mary Fenner held in the park at Leonard Sunday. The reunion is an annual affair held the second Sunday in June at a place where some of the relatives live. Fifty-four descendants were present, the smallest crowd ever to assemble for the occasion. Mr. and Mrs. Fenner are grandparents of Hugh Leslie of Bailey and great grandparents of Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Clayton of this city.

"Colonel" Byron Kelly has won over the city of Bryan to his idea of a monthly sales day. The first sales day to be held in Bryan will be June 22 with one every month thereafter. The program for the day will be carried out similar to the sales days of Paris, Honey Grove, Commerce and other towns whose sales day programs are in charge of Col. Kelly.

C. J. Leslie, formerly of San Benito is visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Clayton.

Mr. and Mrs. William F. Meili are spending a few days here before leaving for their home in Louisville, Ky.

Misses Rachel Sweeney and Mary Bradford of Bonham are guests of Miss June Smith.

The residence of John Littrell on West Main street burned Tuesday. Nobody was at home at the time, Mr. Littrell having been out of town on a visit. The house was completely destroyed with all the household goods, the building having become a mass of flames when the fire department was notified.

"Buster" Laird of Kilgore is the guest of Frank Gose.

Mrs. J. O. McKenzie and son Joe Mark are spending the week in Dallas.

Homer Dickson was in Bonham Wednesday.

Dr. and Mrs. E. G. Eberle of Baltimore who have been visiting here have gone to Dallas for a visit. They were accompanied to Dallas by Mrs. R. J. Thomas who will visit there.

The Lions club held their weekly luncheon Tuesday at the Baptist church. The entertainment committee presented Mrs. Raymond Gilbert who sang several numbers accompanied by Miss Willie Reed Skinner at the piano, and William Linzie Erwin gave several cornet solos and entertained the Lions with a number of Boy Scout pieces including taps, which he rendered on the cornet. Miss Mary Gene Erwin rendered several piano selections. Mary Gene and "Bill" are children of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Erwin of San Angelo, formerly of Honey Grove. No special guests were present except Mrs. Gilbert and the Erwin children.

Mrs. F. L. Carnes and little Doty Carnes of Dallas are visiting Boy Baker and family.

Mrs. Pope Lawrence of Austin is visiting here.

Mrs. Vada Albright of Ladonia is visiting Mrs. Ben Harper.

Mmes. T. G. Lane, Willie Pearson, Bell Murphy and M. E. Tutor were in Paris Thursday.

Bob Norton of Dallas, formerly of Honey Grove, is visiting here.

Mrs. R. E. Crawford is in Dallas.

Miss Mildred Smith was in Paris Wednesday.

Mrs. T. J. Watts and daughter Elizabeth have returned to their home in Camden, Ark.

Amis Riddle has tonsilitis.

Mrs. R. D. McMurry and children and Mrs. W. E. Allen of Ft. Worth are visiting T. H. Gross and family.

Mrs. Sam McGaughey and children and Mrs. A. B. C. Diedrick were in Paris Thursday.

Piese Rhodes of Houston is visiting here.

Mrs. Fred Dobbs and children who have been visiting John Dobbs and family have returned to their home in Vernon.

Edgar Magness of Houston is visiting Dr. J. C. Magness and family.

The Boy Scouts left Thursday for their camp in Devil's Den, Ok., to spend ten days. An advance crew left Wednesday to prepare the camp. Every preparation was made before leaving to assure the boys plenty of wholesome food, medical attention, good sleeping quarters, proper coaching in athletics, swimming, first aid and plenty of chaperonage.

Mmes. E. E. Rigney and James Murph of Harlingen are visiting Mrs. H. B. Ballew.

J. W. Adamson of Austin, inspector in charge of the eleventh district of the postiffce, is here.

Three negro women have been arrested and put in jail by city officers charged with stealing dresses from a local ready-to-wear shop.

Mrs. Ruby Duncan of San Angelo is visiting Frank Eaton and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Eaton of Shreveport, La., are visiting here.

Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Cabeen left Thursday for a visit with their son L. L. Cabeen and family of Dallas.

Mrs. Newt Pirtle and daughter are visiting Mrs. George Weems in Dallas.

Honoring her house guests, Misses Mary Bradford and Rachel Sweeney of Bonham, Miss June Smith entertained with four tables of bridge Wednesday afternoon at her home on West Main street. High score was made by Miss Mary Palmer Allen who was presented a box of dusting powder. The hostess presented the honorees gifts of dusting powder. Out of town guests were Misses Katherine Pierce of Hugo, Mary Winifred Colby of Madill and Maxine Roberts of Whitewright.

FT. WORTH PAINTER DESCRIBES RELIEF ARGOTANE GAVE

Declares Remedy Proved Beneficial In Run-Down Condition

"I am more than glad to recommend Argotane to anyone," said Lee Stinson, well known Fort Worth, Texas, painter and paperhanger, residing at 2017 Clinton, in a recent statement to the Argotane representative, "for I think that it is the most wonderful medicine on the market today.

"I have taken two bottles of Argotane and I know that it is good. I was just in a sort of a run-down condition when I started taking Argotane, and this medicine certainly halped me and got me to feeling so good.

"I am glad you came around to see me. Believe me, I have been doing my share of talking for Argotane, for I think it is so good that I am glad to endorse it and to recommend it to everyone. Yes, sir, I am more than glad to say that Argotane is the best medicine yet."

New Orleans Cotton

NEW ORLEANS, June 18. (AP)—A quiet morning in the cotton market was followed by considerable more activity in the afternoon, with a downward trend that brought net declines of 25 to 27 points at the close. The close was steady 25 to 27 points down for the day.

Liverpool came in 4 to 6 penny points worse than due and private cables stated that there was local and foreign liquidation with poor offtake. Manchester cabled that business in cloths and yarns is slow in developing.

October closed at 8.87, 2 points above the low and 25 points net lower for the day and December closed at 9.10, 3 points above the low and 26 points net lower for the day.

New York Cotton

NEW YORK, June 18. (AP)—Cotton was lower Thursday under liquidation combined with some local, southern, Wall Street and western selling. The general market closed barely steady at net declines of 25 to 28 points.

Lowest prices of the day were reached in the late trading when July sold at 8.46 and December at 9.08. The close was within a point or two of the lowest.

The less active demand in evidence during Thursday's trading was regarded as indicating that the technical position of the market had eased on the recent advance of about 70 points from the low records established earlier in the month. There probably was some selling on this theory, while bearish sentiment was encouraged by the favorable view of immediate crop progress and the weakness in grain and the stock market.

Liverpool cables reported local and foreign liquidation with a poor offtake in that market and said business in cotton cloths was slow in developing owing to general distrust of prices.

Houses with Liverpool connections were among the sellers here early while some of the early buying was attributed to the trade and brokers with Japanese connections.

Chicago Grain

CHICAGO, June 18. (AP)—Big rainfalls in Canada and federal farm board refusal to pledge the withholding of surplus stocks of old wheat from the market tumbled grains down hard Thursday. July and September wheat dropped beyond the season's previous bottom prices and to the lowest level in 35 years. Reports from the southwest indicated that the movement of newly harvested domestic winter wheat was increasing rapidly.

Wheat closed unsettled, 3-4 to 1 3-4 cents lower, corn unchanged to 1 5-8c down, oats 1-8c to 3-8c off, and provisions unchanged to 10 cents up.

Withdrawal of buying support let the corn market undergo a collapse for July contracts. Much of the selling of July corn, however, was simultaneous with buying of September. Oats sympathized with weakness of other cereals.

Closing indemnities — Wheat July 58 1-8 to 1-4, 56 5-8; Sept 58 1-4 to 3-8, 56 1-2 to 5-8, Dec. 58 7/8, 60 1-4 to 3-8. Corn—July 55 1-8 to 1-4, 56 1-2; Sept., 52 1-8 to 1-4, 62 3-4 to 7-8, Dec., 46 1-2.

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK, June 18. (AP)—Stocks and commodities found the easiest way downward Thursday.

Trading in the share market paralleled the Wednesday turnover until the last hour when activity quickened, presumably because professionals sensed that the list was more susceptible to pressure. Many favorites lost one to two points net, with a few weaker spots evident. Sales of approximately 1,100,000 shares compared with Wednesday's total of not more than 900,000.

Railroad stocks were inactive but still heavy, with the exception of St. Louis Southwestern which rose 3 on news of Southern Pacific's conditional offer to the minority holders. The latter road, however, was off 2 points.

The chemical and utility groups dropped rather readily. U. S. Industrial Alcohol, Allied Chemical, Dupont, Consolidated Gas, Western Union, American Telephone, American & Foreign Power and Lambert were unable to show much resistance.

The weekly statements of the banks of England and France revealed additions to their gold stocks, reflecting transfer from Germany. About $6,700,000 in gold was relased from earmark at the New York Federal Reserve, while more than $2,000,000 was received from Canada. The mounting supply of the metal in this country is becoming somewhat embarrassing and many bankers anticipate that further steps will be taken to check the accumulation.

The quality you want . . the price you approve★

If the things you want most in a motor car have cost more than you care to pay—and if the cars you felt you could easily buy have not quite satisfied you—here is a timely message . . .

A lot of people just like you have found in Pontiac both the quality they want and a price they approve.

Suppose you are driving a Pontiac for the first time. What do you find?

Going along at medium speed, you notice how smooth and quiet the engine is. You wonder how it will be at high speed, and a test shows it is just as smooth. For Pontiac's 60 h. p. engine is big enough to do all you ask without laboring.

Over a back road, Pontiac's "rubber insulation" at 43 points in the chassis surely does take up road shocks and gives Pontiac fine-car riding ease. So do the four hydraulic shock absorbers, and the other niceties of design.

You examine the Pontiac interior, and at once you see that the upholstery is genuine mohair or whipcord. You find that seat springs are deep, cushions soft, and the driver's seat easy to adjust the way you like it.

How about protection against heat, cold, and rain?—you ask. And you learn that the fine Fisher-built Pontiac body is weather-tight and leak-proof. Everything has been done for your complete comfort.

There remains only Pontiac's effect on other people. Glances you notice along the street, and the comments of your friends soon settle that! You know you are right in your judgment.

But don't stop at this imaginary test. Take a new Pontiac out on the road and ask it to do everything you want a car to do. Let it prove that it has the quality you want—then ask the price. It's a figure you will warmly approve.

Robins Win, Lose In Brace Games With Bruin Nine

BROOKLYN, June 18. (AP)—Speed ball pitching dominated the proceedings at Ebbetts field Thursday as the Robins divided a double headers with the Chicago Cubs.

Dazzy Vance hurled the Robins to a 7-5 victory in the opener, striking out eleven batters for a new season record, but Pat Malone stopped the locals dead in the nightcap while his mates pounded out an 8-0 triumph. Malone allowed only five scattered hits, three of them by Babe Herman.

THE BAT BAG
By Harry Cox

George Senne, formerly a first baseman, and now an outfielder in the Three Eye league, is second in batting in that loop according to figures recently released. The Gorgeous One is having a big season, along with other former Texas Association players in the circuit. Moose Clabaugh, who while wearing the livery of Tyler, broke the world's record for home runs, is not listed among the .300 hitters in the Three-I, but does lead the loop in circuit clouts.

During a rain at Milwaukee a few days ago, Arthur Whittaman Shires entertained the assembled populace by singing several solos, while seaton the bench. After hearing this recital the many admirers of the Great One were unanimous in their opinion that he was about the best first baseman in the league, and one of its greatest hitters. "Ug" Shires, christened by fond and doting parents as Leonard, is striving to emulate Brother Artha by playing first base for a club in the Palmetto league.

Brother Artha got "Ug" a trial with New York two years ago, and Whattaman admitted to the writer that Brother Leonard left a great deal to be desired before he became a big leaguer. "But you never can tell," quoth Arthur. "The kid might develop into a great ball player—and then again he may not." And Arthur was right in the latter sentence. It's dollars to doughnuts that Shires—not "Ug"—but Arthur—will be back in the big leagues before another season rolls around.

See where John Joseph McGraw is about to break into the movies—at a reported price of $2,000 per break. That is enough to keep John Joseph in coin to play the races. John can outwit and outplay ball clubs, but guessing at the ponies is something else. McGraw goes to Cuba for the winter races and annually comes back to America a loser. But then the master mind o' the Giants is not alone in this respect.

That is a real hoss race now being waged in the Texas league. Beaumont, Houston, Wichita Falls and Fort Worth, all have a chance to cop the flag. Del Baker, down to Beaumont, has a kid ball club but it is a mixture of youth and veteran. Rube Stuart, owner of the Exporters, is entitled to a winner. For years it has been a case of all going out and little coming in with Stuart, but he has stuck to his guns. With the assistance of Detroit Beaumont now has a swell ball park, and a swell ball club to go with it. And now the Exporters are drawing along with the best cities in the league.

Baseball is said to be a game where "youth must be served," but Burleigh Grimes, Red Faber, Clarence Mitchell and Jack Quinn are living refutations of that maxim. These four pitchers have a combined total of 91 years in baseball, and are still numbered among winners on their respective ball clubs, and have so far refused to heed the call of old Father Time. All four are spitball chunkers, and the last survivors of the moist deliveries in the big leagues.

John Picus Quinn, who has been in and out of the big leagues many times, is the dean of the lot. Jack, who coyly admits to being 45 years of age and who is probably near 55, has been in the game 28 years, is still managing to win. Red Faber of the Chicago White Sox, has been pitching for 23, the majority of the time in the big league and Red is still good enough to draw a big league salary. Clarence Mitchell, now southpawing the Giants to victory, has been drawing pay for pitching for 23 years, and is still a consistent winner. Burleigh Grimes is the kid of the lot, having been in professional baseball for 18 years.

Jack Quinn was winning ball games before some of the present day stars had quit wearing safety pins. Last year and for the past several years Quinn was with the champion Athletics and has cut into world series money on three different ball clubs. Burleigh Grimes has also received several cuts out of the world series melon as has Red Faber. Mitchell got two slices while with St. Louis, which club turned the old timer loose as all washed up. And only last week, the veteran licked the Cards—a trick he has turned four times this season.

And in mentioning old timers there is beloved "General Gamge" Jackson, who is managing first basing and hitting for Eldorado, Ark., in the Cotton States league. The "General" was boasting a batting average in excess of .300 before some of the young men on his ball club were born. But when a base hit is needed to bring home the bacon, the "General" wheezes his way up to the plate and cracks out a double or triple. Jackson is now boasting a batting average of .340 in the Cotton States league and the pitchers all dread to see him come ambling up to the plate.

One day in a game here a local pitcher hit the "General" with a fast ball and knocked the old man down. The members of the local club, as well as the visitors, hopped all over the pitcher, who swore it was an accident. It had better be an accident—and it better not happen again," one Paris player told his buddy, "Cause if it does I'm gonna take you apart," and he voiced the sentiment of the whole ball club.

Miller Pitches Sports to Win

GALVESTON, June 18. (AP)—Pitcher Miller of Shreveport proved entirely too good a twirler and too heavy a hitter for the Galveston Buccaneers here Thursday night and the Sports won 8-0. It was almost a one-man show, with Miller striking out five men, allowing but one base on balls and connecting for three doubles and three runs in four times at bat.

Exporters Shake Panther Jinx To Grab 5-4 Melee

Star Maroon Twirler

What the University of Chicago baseball team would have done without Roy Henshaw, the Maroons' star hurler, would be hard to say. Henshaw not only won all of Chicago's nine victories, but won both games of double-headers against Minnesota and Indiana on successive Saturdays.

BEAUMONT, June 18. (AP)—The Exporters broke the Fort Worth jinx Thursday afternoon by defeating the Cats 5 to 4 for their first win over Phelan's club this season. White's triple and Schuble's long sacrifice fly scored the deciding run in the ninth. Terry, who relieved Chagnon, was charged with the loss, while Green, who replaced Marrow, was given credit for the game. In the fourth Yarnan hit his fourth homer in three days, scoring Cox who had been hit by a pitched ball. Taylor led off Beaumont's third with a homer. In the seventh Eddie Moore fell victim to the old hidden ball trick.

Steers Plaster Tribe; Score 9-5

SAN ANTONIO, June 18. (AP)—The Dallas Steers made the best of their opportunities to defeat the San Antonio Indians, 9-5 in the opening game of the series here Thursday night.

The Steers got two runs in the opening frame, four more in the third, another in the seventh, and two in the eighth, while Pitcher Garland held the Indians scoreless through the seventh and weakened only once, to let five runners cross the plate in the eighth.

Giants Win 3-1 Tilt With Bucs

NEW YORK, June 18. (AP)—Timely hitting behind Carl Hubbell's six-hit pitching enabled the Giants to down Pittsburgh, 3 to 1, in their series opener Thursday and run their winning streak to six straight.

The slender Giant southpaw had the Pirates puzzled all the way and would have scored a shutout but for successive errors by Jackson and Terry in the first inning.

CHAPTER 39

Several days passed.

Mary again worked late with Foster, on the evening after she had driven out to the Colonial Inn with Frazier for dinner; but Foster did not invite her to dinner with him. He murmured something about an engagement and let Mary go home alone.

He had said to her on the day when he returned from Blair's office, "I saw your sister this morning, Mary. I didn't know she was working in New York. You always talked as if she stayed at home."

"Oh, yes, Bonnie just went to work for Jameson-Blair a few weeks ago. It is her first place to work in New York."

"Bonnie—cute name," he mused. "She is a beautiful child, Mary, and doesn't look strong enough to be commuting from away over in Jersey. You shouldn't allow her to do it, knowing what a strain it is. You had to give it up, finally, you know."

"Mother and I tried to dissuade her, but she would try it." She thought, "I made the trip for four years and I didn't have to come to New York to live because I couldn't stand the commuting, though I did get most awfully tired of it. But if he can't see that, let him think whatever he pleases."

"Plucky little kid, all right," was Foster's comment, still thinking of Bonnie's guileless smile and extravagant compliments.

That week, Mrs. Vaugn was taken ill and had to send for Mary. The trip home seemed interminable to Mary, now unaccustomed to the long ordeal and anxious to reach her mother. Mom must be seriously ill, to have summoned her in the middle of the day, she concluded.

The doctor was calling when Mary arrived. She flew up the stairs and stood fearfully at the door of Mom's room for a moment before she pushed it open and entered. Her mother's face on the white pillow seemed to Mary as gray as the tumbled hair about it.

With a little cry of dismay, she had flung herself on her knees beside the bed, her strong, eager arms almost lifting her mother off the bed.

"Mom, darling—what is it? Why didn't you call me sooner?" Tears choked her words. "Doctor Beaman, what is wrong, please?"

The doctor was bruskly cheerful. "Oh nothing so serious—now. A cold, and grippe. But I suspect that isn't all. She's tired and lonely, Mary. Too bad you girls can't be at home more. I think if you can, you had better stay here a few days and get her cheered up. Pneumonia could set in, if we're not careful. You're the best medicine I know for her—and the best nurse. I'll leave a prescription or two to be filled. Think you could manage to be home for a few days?"

"Why, of course, if Mom needs me, Dr. Beaman. You know I wouldn't work in New York if we didn't need the money. It isn't my choice, but I can earn more there."

"I know," he nodded kindly. He had known the family ever since the twins arrived, when he officiated. "Your mothers tells me that Bonnie works in the city, too. I didn't suppose she could make more money there than she could right here in Patterson with little experience."

"No," Mary defended her, "but positions are so difficult to find now, that she decided a little was better than nothing."

"Of course," agreed the doctor. "Well, you girls get busy and cheer Mom up a bit, now," he smiled at the woman whose eyes already were alight with the joy of seeing Mary. He left instructions for the patient and departed.

"Pshaw!" Mom declared, when he had gone. "He don't know so much as he thinks he does. I'm not sick, only a cold that I could not seem to shake off. Don't you go staying home now and maybe losing your job, just for me, Mary."

"Don't you worry about that, dear. I think I need a vacation, myself, for that matter. It won't hurt Foster to do without me for a few days, so we shall both have a rest and a good visit while you get all well again." She was already busy with putting the room to rights, smoothing the bed clothes and bringing Mom a drink of water.

She went downstairs and telephoned to Foster who was kind and reassuring. He would do the best he could without her, and she was to remain at home until her mother was quite recovered.

With a sigh of relief, Mary turned from the telephone. It was a sigh of weariness, too. Weariness of body, mind and soul. She felt more than physical fatigue, for it was the utter exhaustion of grief and tangled thoughts. It was good to be home and remote from the struggle. A few quiet days with Mom would restore her mental balance and physical strength.

She looked about her. The house showed evidences of Mom's very unusual neglect. A boy's sweater hung limply over one chair, a cap lay in a corner, soiled dishes were stacked in the sink and little gray dust balls rolled gleefully around the bare floors that bordered the rugs.

Mary first went to the drug store and had the prescriptions filled. She brought home oranges and lemons, gave Mom a glass of cool orange juice and made a pitcher of lemonade for her to keep beside her so she would have plenty of water to drink. Then she changed from her office jersey into a house dress and delved into the task before her.

By the time the twins burst into the house and almost strangled her with their violent greetings, she had the house spic and span, and a steaming dinner ready for them.

"Gee, Mary, it's good to have you home," Ted declared. "Aw, say, why did you go to live in New York? Ain't it bad enough to work there every day, without staying there nights, too?"

"Yes, Ted, I don't know why I did leave. But I won't, again. I'm staying until Mom gets well, then when I do go back to work, I shall come home every night like I used to."

The two almost choked her again, in their delight. Tim said soberly, "Mom ain't like herself when you are gone, Mary. Gee, this house has been like a —well, like a tomb, these few days. Mom felt so bad and—and—" the tears conquered and Mary comforted him while he bravely sniffed them away.

Bonnie did not come home for dinner that night, so Mary had a long comfortable evening with her mother.

"You are not going to work so hard, when you are well again," she told her, sitting beside the bed and stroking Mom's hand affectionately. "No more sewing. It is too hard on your nerves, trying to please everyone, and working over tedious seams and materials. I'll make up the difference some way. And I'm coming back home to stay."

"Now you will do nothing of the sort," Mom protested. "You make a baby of me because I have a little cold. I'll be all right in a day or two and you just go along your own way. Don't I know it's a lot better for you not to make that trip back and forth?"

"It is in some ways. But I get homesick, too, and I need you more than I can tell you, or more than I ever realized. I am coming back to stay with you—always."

Her mother smiled, but there was a glow around her heart, put there by those words. "I need you and love you, dear, and I'm glad you are coming back to stay. But you must not sacrifice your own life for me. There are no sweeter words to a mother whose children are grown and have become self-sufficient. 'I hope not,' she said gently. 'You will have to forget what's past, Mary and make your life over. I've had to do that. We all have to, some time. You will learn to make the changes easier as you get older. None of life is easy if we love and live and work like it is meant we should. Even the ones who try to get out of the trouble and work have to face problems some time. But you are not that way, Mary, the club tour.

Ire Aroused by War Show

Commemorating the anniversary of the battle of Jutland and rumored to be a show of force for the benefit of adjacent Poland, the massed colors shown above was part of a great military spectacle staged at Breslau, Germany, recently with the former Crown Prince in attendance. It is thought this display of force is what occasioned Foreign Minister Briand of France to declare, with frank indignation, that he finds it "difficult to continue peace efforts with Germany." Insert shows the ex-Crown Prince, at left, and General Von Mackensen, war leader, taking the salute from the goose-stepping, steel-helmeted troops.

BIG SISTER — The Go-Getter — By LESLIE FORGRAVE

WHAT! YOU'VE GOT THAT PRECIOUS CHILD LOCKED UP AT THE STATION? OF COURSE I SENT HER FOR THAT MONEY! NOW YOU HUSTLE BACK THERE AND TURN HER LOOSE FORE I GET OUT OF THIS BED AND COME DOWN THERE MYSELF!
HELLO! OH! IT'S YOU, DINTY! WELL HOW 'BOUT IT? WHAT'S THAT? MRS. CARR IS THERE IN TH' HOSPITAL AND BACKS UP THIS GIRL'S STORY? GOOD! THEN WE TURN 'EM LOOSE!
WELL, YOUNG LADY, YOU WIN! I'M SORRY I DOUBTED YOUR STORY BUT WE POLICE HAVE TO BE MIGHTY CAREFUL IN CASES LIKE THIS! HERE, TAKE THE MONEY AND SCOOT!
THANK YOU!
I SPECT MRS. CARR WILL BE GLAD TO SEE HF MONEY AGAIN!
YES, I GUESS SO, BUT I TOLD HER I'D GET IT FOR HER SO I JUS' HAD TO STICK TO IT 'TIL I GOT IT. TH' ONLY WAY TO DO A THING IS TO JES' GO AHEAD AN' DO IT AN NOT LET ANYTHING STOP YOU.
FORGRAVE

THE NEBBS — Bye-Bye — BY SOL HESS

SCOUDY IS ON HIS WAY TO MEET FANNY AND WE HAVE A HUNCH THAT EVERYTHING WILL BE ALL RIGHT UNLESS SOMETHING ELSE HAPPENS
I DON'T THINK I'LL EVEN GO OVER TO THE HOUSE. I'LL CALL UP BETSY ON THE PHONE AND TELL HER I'LL MEET MOTHER HALF WAY—BUT NOT ANOTHER INCH!
ONE PEEP OUT OF YOU AND I'LL TAP YOU ON THE BEAN WITH THIS GAB-SILENCER!
NOW KEEP YOUR GAB SHUT!—WHEN WE GET READY TO TALK THIS MATTER OVER, WE'LL CALL A DIRECTORS' MEETING
WHAT ARE YOU GOING TO DO WITH ME?—I'VE NEVER DONE ANYTHING WRONG TO ANYBODY
IF YOU'LL STOP CHATTERING AND SPEAK WHEN YOU'RE SPOKEN TO AND DO WHAT YOU'RE TOLD YOU'LL GO HOME AS GOOD AS NEW—IF YOU'RE SMART THIS WILL BE A FINE VACATION FOR YOUR MOUTH
